

Silent Keys

The primary purpose of the British Columbia Public Service Net is to provide emergency coordinators with a trained group of radio operators capable of assisting with communications during an emergency. The net meets daily, 365 days per year, and provides amateurs with an opportunity to pass formal and informal traffic through a net control coordinating station.

The net started in the late 1940s when the Fraser River overflowed and Chilliwack was cut off from the world. Amateur Radio communication was vital in maintaining second tier communications. The then Section Manager Ernie Savage, VE7FB, and Wilf Moorhouse, VE7US, called together hams who were willing to help and the British Columbia Public Service Net began!

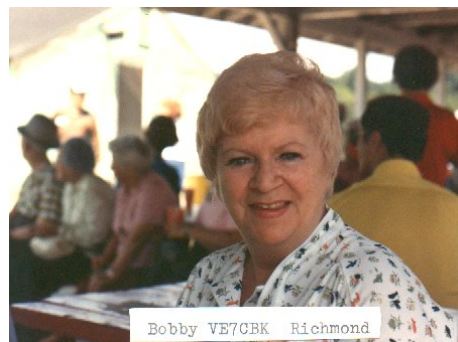

Wilf VE7US and his wife Rae VE7UR

As the years have passed many of the net mangers, net control stations and participants of the net have left us and these pages remember some past and more current members who have become silent keys. Page 1 of this document remembers some early members of the net and pages 2 & 3 list more recent losses.

Sil Shaw (above), VE7QC, of Creston was an early BC Public Service Net Assistant Net Manager.

Bobbi (Roberta) Kelly, VE7CBK, was the first YL net control station on the BC Public Service Net. She made sure we all remembered Robbie Burns Day!

Kirby Garner (left), VE7WT, was without a doubt one of the most colourful BC Net Control operators. With Kirby at the mic Friday evenings were never dull.
